

“Top award for quality given to Wood End First School by leading education charity Achievement for All.”

Pictured:
June Carney (parent), Jackie Baron (Head), Claire Wilson (Deputy Head); Joshua, Kofi and Liam.

Achievement for All

Wood End First School has been recognised for the work it has been doing to improve the wellbeing, resilience and self-esteem of children in their school, including those with Special Educational Needs and/or disabilities. Under the leadership of the Deputy Head Claire Wilson, the school has been working with the Achievement for All programme since April 2013 and has just been awarded a Quality Mark. The programme works closely with parents, teachers and the individual child to secure the best outcome and attainment for their students through personalised and specific targets.

The school has seen a marked improvement in pupil progress and attainment levels, improvements in attendance and increased engagement with parents. Parents attend a wide range of events in school and have developed stronger relationships through structured conversations. One parent said, “Thank you, it’s great to be involved in this partnership. We have happy children and happy homes.”

Headteacher Jacqueline Baron quotes: “Achievement for All has helped to drive whole school improvement focusing on aspirations, access and achievement for all children.”

The award recognises the excellent work being done by the school with Achievement for All to improve progress in reading, writing and maths for all pupils, regardless of their background, challenge or need.

Catherine Nyman, Regional Lead from Achievement for All, quotes: “Achievement for All believes that every child can progress, and through our programme we hope to enable every child to be the best that they can be regardless of background, challenge or need. We are delighted to be working with Wood End First School and look forward to our continuing relationship.”

www.afa3as.org.uk